Aegis™ mingles allusions to rational mid-century modern forms, the aesthetic principles of the Bauhaus school and classic museum seating. A clean geometry balanced by elegant details yields a collection that reaffirms enduring design concepts, reinterpreted for contemporary interiors.

Designed by Michael Vanderbyl, the Aegis collection comprises a lounge chair, with or without an attached side table, and a bench, with or without a bolster. The collection has an architectural presence well suited to office or commercial spaces, including reception, lobby or lounge areas, collaborative settings and private offices.
